

Dennis Stowell
Candidate and Incumbent Senator
Utah Senate District 28

STATEMENT OF QUALIFICATIONS

Dennis Stowell was elected to the Utah Senate in November 2006. During his four sessions in the Utah Senate, Dennis has been the floor sponsor of 40 bills in the Senate, passed in House and signed by the Governor. These bills have generally been geared toward specific problems being experienced by constituents and local governments in Senate District 28, which covers Millard, Beaver, Iron, Kane and Garfield Counties and the eastern portion of Washington County. Having served previously as an Iron County Commissioner and Mayor of Parowan City, Dennis is extremely familiar and competent with local government issues. Dennis recognizes the problems facing Utah and is personally acquainted with the Mayors, Commissioners, and council members from southwest Utah.

Dennis currently serves as Co-chair of the Natural Resources Appropriation Committee, Natural Resources, Agriculture, and the Environment Interim Committee, the Senate Natural Resources, Agriculture, and the Environment Committee. He also serves as Co-chair of the Water Development Commission, the Governor's Rural Partnership Board Liaison Committee, Co-vice Chair of the Constitutional Defense Council, and as a member of the Native American Liaison Committee.

Dennis lives in Parowan, is married to Marilee Adams, and are parents to seven children.
